The question, for instarge, about the fishery rights is certainly one | | SPACIOUS GODOWN on the Prays Central. of which people disposed to quiserel might make |: something, but it-like the other matters contf 129 Hongkong, 17th January, 1886. n cred with the late reciprocity treaty -is just _ GRANITE GODOWNS on Marine Lot No. one of those questions which can be definitely sertled by treaty. It has none of that incurable virulouse which belongs to questions of indep no dence or territory. Look, again, at the relations be wren the States and Canada. We do not the last mean to exaggerate what, after all, was a very natural act on the part of the Americans. and one which they were likely enough to have dine simply for the confort and dicentry of their own frontier, and without any particular regard their own Boats, and to receive the same on Storfor he; but the relations between the two States | age in first class GRANITE GODOWNS on are as a whole eminutely satisfactory, and they moderate terms. are so mainly because the political institutions ! which prevail on each side of the line are very malikely to diagone those who live under them to full out with each other. Free trade is not after all the only conceivable bond between different metions. Identity of race, substantial identity of Government-for British North America is in all but the panie a republic-and a mutual interest in all riat constitutes the real welfare of the other, are the ties which mai e the United States with the British provinces; nor do we see why anything except indi-cretion at home should ever interrupt them. I what we have seen is intrinsically a small matter, it will at least serve to contract the motice that sympathy with violence, revolution. libbustering, and the like, to characteristic of the Americans. We believe his to be an entire mistake. There and other but things were the characteristic vices of the slaveholding population; to offer her services to the ladies of Hongkong in but new that slavery and its attendant erils are | he shore capacity or as nurse.
